

Are good communicators born, or are they made?

It's probably a bit of both.
We can't do anything about nature,
but we can surely do something about nurture.

While content is important, it's the delivery that makes the difference. Kids Peak is a language and communication school that enables children to speak up and speak well.

Our weekly English curriculum is developed by experts in Singapore and the United States, in collaboration with the International Reading Association.

What sets us apart is that our curriculum is designed with Singlish in mind. Every lesson takes into account common grammatical errors, or words and phrases that are often mispronounced or misused.

Targeted at children of ages 3 to 6, our lessons are fun and interactive, with plenty of room for expression and imagination.

Kids Peak is a partner of the nationwide Speak Good English Movement.

Kids Peak
Speak up. Speak well.
